

Brian Leor Frankel is a multinational marketing consultant known for research, writing, advertising and public relations. He is focused and methodological, with a keen eye on profitability and operational excellence. CEO's and General Managers solicit his services to generate revenue, tackle challenges, or bring fire to their teams.

Utilizing his extensive network, Frankel advises American, Emirati and Indian businesses on expanding into international markets. His experience also makes him a sought-after keynote speaker, recently featured at SXSW, UCLA, TiE Dubai, American University of Sharjah and the U.S. Embassy in Pakistan.

In 2012 Frankel founded Mentor Matchmaker, a two-pronged approach to connecting professionals. Corporations hire Frankel to build mentor programs in-house for productivity and profitability. The nonprofit sector of Mentor Matchmaker works with survivors of sex trafficking and inner-city youth, connecting them with career mentors and teaching workforce development skills.